Letter To The Editor

In May 1979 I announced for office of Supervisor of the Cloverhill District, to the County Board of Supervisors.

At the time of having the required petitions signed to have my name listed on the ballot, I stopped at each house I came to to ask for signatures to the petition.

The purpose of this letter is not to ask for votes for me as a candidate, but to pass on some of the information I obtained at that time. I have since made contacts on a house by house basis, and had similar experiences.

I knew that voters did not turn out in large numbers for most elections. But I didn't know how many eligible persons were not entitled to vote because of not registering.

I find that consistently, the percent of persons eligible to vote, not registered, varies from about 25 to 30 percent.

With the normal average of 40 percent voting, you have this result. Of every 100 persons eligible to register, from 70 to 75 are not registered to vote. Using 75 as a top figure and 40 percent as the voting percent, this appears to be about 30 persons out of 100 making decisions for the rest of us.

This is rather disconcerting, especially in times like these when tax matters are of such concern to all of us. Sure, some people say, my vote doesn't count, or no reason for me to vote I don't have any influence, etc. Or, I don't care to vote.

Perhaps if we didn't have the opportunity to vote, we would cherish the privilege. It costs nothing to register, and very little to vote. Only the cost of getting there. Are we too lazy and try to find excuses for not voting?

For the person who thinks their vote doesn't count, I would call to your attention that in the last election for Mayor of Pamplin, only one vote could have made the difference since that was the difference that decided the race.

Are we going to let 30 people out of a possible one hundred run the country? Think it over and use your voting privilege. I use mine in every election.

To the Editor,

We, the Senior Citizens of Appomattox, Virginia are launching a program to save our energy of tomorrow. We figure if we set an example of conserving our natural resources, other people will see it takes not only the older people to conserve, but it takes everyone.

We are living in a world where every citizen is enjoying living a high standard of living. A lot of this high standard of living depends on energy. If we are to keep this standard of living, we need to use our energy more wisely and conserve our energy whenever we can.

In our program to conserve our energy, we plan to write letters to our government leaders, participate in home checks, make items to keep out the cold air, do a radio broadcast on energy saving tips, display literature so other people can get involved, and publish an article in the newspaper. By doing all of this, we are sure we will reach others so they can be a part of tomorrow's future. These are just a few things we plan to do.

Everyone, take a hint! We Senior Citizens still hold a valuable place in tomorrow's future. Let's conserve, energy is short and valuable!

Zion Baptist Church

You are cordially invited to attend regular preaching service to be held at the Zion Baptist Church, Sunday at 11 a.m. The Rev. Charles Lewis will be our guest speaker. The pastor aid met last Tuesday night at the Zion Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. With our president, Mrs. Susie Hunter, calling the meeting. Mr. Frank Johnson recording the minutes.

Mrs. Mattie Lawson our chaplain was in charge of the devotions. The minutes were received and adopted, dues were taken. Mrs. Nannie Johnson,our program committee for our 16th anniversary for the pastor aid,made her report. Rev. R. Q. Lawing Jr. and choir will be our guest speaker. Also the male choir of the Zion Baptist will be on the program. The 4th Sunday in October at 3 p.m. Despite the rainy day Sunday a large crowd attended the last housed Sunday School union held at the Zion Baptist Church Sunday at 10A.M. The union was a success. Everyone was lifted up and enyoyed the great message Rev. Raymond Turner brought us. Everyone was welcome and at the close of the union, the ladies of the church served a delicious dinner. Mrs. Nannie Johnson, chairman for the food wishes to thank everyone for food donations, helping to clean the church and making our day a success.

Mr. Edd Mosley has returned home from the hospital and doing nicely. Also Mrs. Susie Patterson has returned home from the hospital and is improving.

Our sympathy goes out to the Womack family in the loss of their sister, Mrs. Bertha Bradford of New York. The funeral will be held later at the Zion Baptish Church.

We are praying for our sick and shut-in.

Mr. William Hunter of Maryland visited his parents over the weekend.

Mrs. Magnolia Franklin is still improving. She was up lifted over the week-end by the Zion Baptist Men's Chorus, of Pamplin, Va.

Mrs. Franklin wishes to thank the chorus for their beautiful selections, gift, also Lloyd Cobbs for his inspiring prayer, Mrs. Katherine Haskins accompanied the Zion Baptist Men's Chorus.

Mrs. Franklin was very elated over her son and grandson visiting her from Baltimore, Md. Dr. Charles M. Franklin, S. and Charles M. Franklin, Jr.

The Pastor Speaks

In the magazine Light, a publication of the Protestant Christian groups in the Sudan, attention has been called to the spell which General Charles G. Gordon, the British general sometimes called Chinese Gordon, still casts over men today, seventy-five years after his death. Where did he get that remarkable courage and dash, that endurance to outmatch the trying climate of the Sudan, the boldness that enabled him singlehanded to break up the slave trade? General Gordon was a man of prayer. Entered in his diary for June 7, 1877 are these words. "Praying for the people whom I am about to visit gives me much strength"and it is wonderful how something seems already to have passed between me and the chief whom I am about to meet for the first time." Personally, I find by actual experience I am better or worse in my Christian life as I pray more or less. If my prayer life sags, my whole life sags with it. To fail here is to fail all down the line. To succeed here is to succeed everywhere. Prayers is not an optional subject in the curriculum of living. It is a required subject. It is the required subject and there is no graduation into abundant, victorious living without it.

The Bible And Daily Living

By Dr. William L. Trimyer

Christ Makes Sense Of The Nonsense
Lesson for October 7, 1979
Scripture Reference: Philippians 1
Focal Passage : Phil. 1:19-30

For me to live is Christ, and to die is to gain everything. (Philippians 1:21)

Faith As Reality

Is faith for you a way of life or simply "a "supermarket" comodity? In the face of tragedy do you turn to faith as a means of escape or as your personal support system? When you read Paul you may sometimes find yourself asking, "Was Paul all that dependent upon Christ? After all, when Paul met with difficulties he was able to say such things as this; "I know that this (trouble) will turn to my salvation..."

Such a remark coming from some people may indicate their way of denying reality. We humans have a built in tendency to deny those things which threaten us. Some of the tragedies we pilgrims meet along life's way are "tough licks to take on the jaw."

We easily attribute such "licks" as God's will or remark that "that's life." Rather than struggle to find meaning in the events which happen in life, we dismiss them with "religious jargon" or with a matter-of-fact attitude.

Paul saw and sought meaning in all circumstances of life. Paul practiced what he preached! In Romans 8:28 Paul affirmed that, "all things work together for good to those who love the Lord, and who are called according to his purpose." Paul believed this and demonstrated his belief in practice. In everything Paul sought to apply his faith in Christ, so that whether dead or alive, Paul whould let others see Christ in him.

The Cost of Discipleship

A man by the name of Deitrich Bonhoeffer wrote a superb book entitled, The Cost of Discipleship. One of the striking lines from that book reads thusly: "When Christ calls a man, he bids him come and die."

How much is our life worth? How much are we willing to "lay on the line" when it comes to living out our lives in the marketplace? Are we willing to take an unpopular faith stand on crucial issues which affect our quality of life? Are we willing to do some dying to self so that Christ may live in and through us?

These are hard questions which call for individual responses. Nothing is perhaps more of a struggle than to surrender ourselves to the Lordship of Christ. Such a surrendering asks of us to make some sacrifices. To do what God wants is not always easy to handle. The Christian faith is not a "Primrose Lane with a holiday off" experience.

Paul said, "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." What could Paul have meant by such a strange remark? Did Paul despise life so much that he was willing to trade it in for a burial plot? Was Paul suicidal?

The answer to the latter question is no. It is not suicidal to follow after the Christ. It may be suicidal not to take Christ seriously, or to refuse to make him the focus and meaning of life.

Paul said, "I am between a hard place and a rock, having a desire to be with Christ in heaven, which is better; but I also wish to stay here with you."(author's paraphrase) Was this Paul's way of escaping tough times, or was he a fanatic sentimentalist?

Paul simply loved Christ deeply. After all, the encounter he had with Jesus redeemed his past and redirected his future. Unlike Paul, some people see heaven as a means of escape from the trails of this life. "Homesickness for heaven" may be an unhealthy way of dealing with earthy calamities. Paul sets the example by declaring, "...to abide with you (the Christians at Philippi) is more necessary." (Phil. 1:24)

I like it here! I want to get all the mileage I can out of my pilgrimage. When I get donw to the end, I may find myself begging for more. We each have something to contribute.

Crucial Needs

Paul sought to speak and minister to the needs of struggling churches. He constantly sought to encourage his Christian friends in their faith. In Phil. 1:27-30 we see some of Paul's words of exhortation.

Paul urged the Christians at Philippi to remain firmly devoted to Christ. He was concerned that the presence of pagan worship might creep in and destroy the "sapling" faith.

Paul also encouraged harmony within the church. Such words are relevant in our own day and age. The church can be one of the most difficult places to maintain harmony. Power struggles in volunteer organizations can destroy a warm spirit. Harmony does not imply the absence of disagreement, but it does imply working together for the common good.

Paul wrote to give the Christians at Philippi courage and to encourage them to endure their struggles, as well as his own. Paul wrote to say that as they suffer hard times for Christ's sake, they would also share in Paul's sufferings and struggles.

Trumpteers To Sing At Promise Land Church

The Appomattox Trumpteers to sing at Promise Land Baptist Church on the second Sunday in October instead of the first Sunday as announced.

All members and friends are reminded of the special program to be rendered by the local Appomattox Trumpteers at the Promise Land Baptist Church on the second Sunday evening in this month at 7 p.m. instead of the first Sunday as previously announced. The program is given in the place of the regular evening service.

The Appomattox Assembly will hold its regular meeting on Thursday, October 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Galilee Baptist Church. The executive Council will meet tonight at 7:30. All representatives are urged to be present.

The general public is invited to attend the beginning of the annual revival of Mount Airy Church, this Sunday beginning at 11 a.m. Dinner will be served by the ladies of the church.

Despite the rainy weather a large crowd attended the annual meeting of the East and West Bound Sunday Union held at the Zion Baptist Sunday School at 10 a.m. Sunday. A very interesting session was held. The Rev. Raymond H. Turner delivered the annual message. Beautiful music was rendered by the senior choir. A total of $113.73 was left with the home school. The same group of officers were asked to serve another year. A tasty dinner was served by the ladies of the church. The next meeting will be with the Mount Airy School.

A large crowd of relatives and friends attended the funeral service for the Mr. William Edgar Scott at the Promise Land Baptist Church last Sunday at 3:30 p.m. The pastor of the church officated and delivered the eulogy. He was assisted in the service by the Rev. Raymond Turner. Burial was held in the church cemetery. The Community Funeral Home was in charge.

Rev. R. Q. Lawing Sr. and Galilee Sr. Choir will render service at the Third Liberty Baptist Church this Sunday evening at 3 p.m. The Rev. R. Q. Lawing Jr. is the pastor.

All officers, members and friends are invited to attend the regular worship service at the Galilee Church Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

We are glad to report the sick is improving.

Twenty-Three Voices To Close Generation Gap at Pamplin A.A.R.P.

Members and friends will be able to enjoy the youthful voices of the Appomattox County High School Madrigals after their meeting October 11th at 7:30 p.m.

- The group is under the direction of the very capable Shelby S. Shelton who has arranged a most delightful evening of entertainment.

After the concert, refreshments will be served for all present to enjoy.

The program will include selections that will be performed at the Railroad Festival. In concert, the Madrigals will perform Drill Ye Tarriers, Drill; The Sow Took The Measles; Hammer Song; The Star Spangled Banner; We've Only Just Begun; Don't Cry Out Loud; You Needed Me; and The Benediction.

The Madrigal Singers are a select group of high school students who have earned a place in this choir by an audition. They are representing the Appomattox County High School Choral Department as the main performing group. They welcome invitations to perform in the community.

This performance is free and open to the public.

Voting Information

Mrs. Lemon, Registrar of Appomattox County, has already published information about registering to vote and voting instructions, and other details.

To make it more convenient for persons in the east end of Appomattox County, she has arranged to have an additional place for registering to vote.

It is the Mayor's Office in Pamplin, located just north of the car wash on Highway 47, in a white building. The hours will be 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday, October 6.

If you need a ride to register or want information call 248-6514 on the hours and day mentioned above. Members of the Pamplin Ruritan Club will provide needed transportation.
